

Marx and Philosophy Society

Annual Conference 2017

Marx and the Concept of Labour

Saturday 24th June 2017, 9.30am - 5.45pm

Room 822, UCL Institute of Education
20 Bedford Way, London WC1H 0AL

9.30 Registration

10.00 Mike Neary (Lincoln)

Critical Theory as a critique of labour, featuring academic work; or, how do revolutionary teachers teach?

11.15 Break

11.45 Graduate and early career panel:

Alastair Hemmens (Cardiff) Labour, a 'rational abstraction'? Robert Kurz's substance of capital and resolving the labour aporia in Marx

Sean Winkler (Leuven) The Hessen-Grossmann-Lukács Thesis: A Marxist study of the emotions in early modern philosophy'

Michael Lazurus (Monash) The standpoint of labour and Marx's method

1.30 Lunch

2.30 Annual report of the organising group

2.45 Sara Farris (Goldsmiths)

A Marxist-feminist approach to the theory of the reserve army of labour

4.00 Break

4.30 Anselm Jappe (Sassari)

Marx and the 'two-fold nature' of labour: the 'pivot' of his critique of capitalism

Admission free

Please reserve a place in advance by emailing Eric John Russell at johndavid.correspondence@gmail.com

Further details: <http://www.marxandphilosophy.org.uk>